THEY DO IT ALL THE TIME

The drowning which occurred at Norland on Labour Day was an unfortunate accident and one which might have been avoided at any of a score of resort areas where fishing was in progress. The reason that it occurred at Norland was because the factors surrounding the mishap were a little more conducive to its happening. Standing up in small boats while fishing has become quite common practice about a dangerous one. It is a fact that the drowning frequently result when people decide to stand up in boats and usually these events are given extensive publicity so that the public is amply warned. In spite of the example and warnings which have been provided there are a number of people who persist in performing this dangerous feat. Some don't like to tell about it and others have the unpleasant task of reporting their fate.

Could it be that standing in small boats should be made an offense carrying a penalty sufficient to discourage the practice? How else can the problem be effectively attacked?

IT SHOULD NEVER HAVE BEEN PRINTED MUCH LESS HEADLINED . . .

There are stories which are better left untold and certainly unprinted. One of these centered around the death of a school girl at Crowland, Ontario, yesterday. The circumstances surrounding this unfortunate incident are such that they are better left unprinted. That this incident should be considered sensational news and not a sad tragedy does not speak very highly of modern journalism.

Others Say

ONTARIO KEEPS RENT CONTROLS

The emphasis given in some newspaper headlines to the rent control figures released yesterday was entirely misplaced. "The Ontario Municipalities Stated For Rent Control in March." Such a headline is misleading, although the figure is accurate. It makes one think that almost all the municipalities in Ontario are dead set against rent controls and have demonstrated that they are undecided. That implication is wrong on two counts. Nearly all cities and towns have requested, or acceded to the Department's suggestion of continued rent controls.

When the Federal Government delegated rent controls to the Provinces, Ontario continued them. Several months ago it wrote the 960 odd municipalities to ask whether this wished rent controls continued or stopped. Only 49 of the 923 bothered to answer at all; the rest were quite satisfied with the decisions made by their behalf by the Queen's Park Committee. This for the majority of municipalities, rent control is a dead issue; only by default are they to be 'decontrolled'. But the majority of municipalities in Ontario are by no means the majority of people in Ontario. Overall, the people, expressing themselves through their Councils, want rent controls continued.

Of the 923 municipalities in Ontario, only 29 are cities and 149 are towns. These are the places most concerned about rents. Some of the Province's 159 villages have rental problems, particularly those within commuting range of larger centres of population. But most of the 923 Ontario municipalities being townships, never had, have not now, and never will have, problems about rents. There is no shortage of houses in them, and most are farming communities. So we can write off consideration of about 700 municipalities; this number in fact coincides with the starting headline figure (708 Ontario Municipalities Stated For Decontrol). They never had controls that amounted to a tinker's dam. What about the rest?

Every city in Ontario except Chatham and Stratford (both of which would like to do it) and a few others have not yet made up their minds has asked that controls be continued. Every town in Ontario has asked that controls be continued, except Leaside, Forest Hill Village, Port Credit and Parry Sound and perhaps one or two others.

This district is a sample of the situation across the Province. Peterborough, Ottawa, Port Hope, Cobourg, Lindsay, Hawkeston, Northwood and Belleville will all continue to have rent controls. (Millbrook will have no controls unless it requests them before March.) On the other hand the whole of Huron County has released from them. The fact is, it is only such thinly populated areas as Haliburton which will have no controls. In these, controls were never essential because there were no acute housing shortages. And so Ontario continues to have rent controls for an indefinite period.

Laugh It Off...

A dear old lady visited the Better Business Bureau to complain about an investment she had made. "It looks very bad," said the official. "Why didn't you consult us before investing?" "If I should go good I was afraid you wouldn't let me buy it," explained the old lady.—Labor Leader

New IODE Chapter Called 'Blythe' For Reasons Of Historical Interest

A new chapter of the I.O.D.E. has been formed in Lindsay by Mrs. George Weeks, a Provincial Officer of the order.

This chapter has taken the name "Blythe" for reasons of historical interest. "Blythe" was the name given the farm of John Lancaster who settled on Burgeon Point in 1881. He later became the Chancellor of the University of Toronto, and the first Provincial Auditor of Upper Canada. His diary is the most interesting narrative of life in the business period followed. Correspondence was read by Mrs. Bell. It was passed that the next duration of $2500 be given to the first bursar.

The executive of Blythe Chapter is as follows: Regent—Mrs. Malcolm Kirk, 1st Vice Regent—Mrs. Roland Alsworth, 2nd Vice Regent—Mrs. Alan Dave, Secretary—Mrs. Roy Hicks, Treasurer—Mrs. Richard Lee, Standard Bearer—Mrs. J. C. Holm. Educational Secretary—Mrs. Neil Gregory Jr., Echoe Secretary—Mrs. E. W. Hicks.

Panions for trout, Lake Simcoe, in the Township Day district cover an area of 1500 square miles.

Lightning His Tree

A lightning bolt Monday night of last week gave Mr. and Mrs. Howard Foster and Clifton Foster quite a start when it hit a chimney vine at the corner of their house shattering window pane and cracking tree in the sun porch. The bolt was so intense that every neighbour's light was in the night and there was damage in or around their home.

The holes in chimney row on the second corner of Maypole were miraculously fixed on Saturday morning and not before it was time. A truck or car stuck in Toronto on a recent weekend bounced off a good camp on into Nathan's driveway.

Sunderland Friends Tender Bride Shower

A pretty affair is the bride and groom and their loved ones in the quiet ranches and ponds of the Beaver River and seen from Highway 7. Yellow water lilies with beautiful flowers and fish lily pads add much to the picture.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Taylor were

Wednesday visitors in the city.

On Thursday, August 28th, when decreed upon and the wedding

William Bagshaw stated that upon day the red lotus lake burned with the much more than the

with the metal heap, which was with the face rays of the sun. On the particular day the tomato green and ripe were cooked on the

on their exposed surface.

This was noted in many gardens in the vicinity—especially in those of

William McDougal, Bill Beaslee

and Alfred Brown.

John Taylor was taken by ambulance to the Ross Memorial Chapel, Lindsay, on Thursday.

Mr. Taylor with Doctor Smith undergo a major operation. Friends here for a speedy and complete recovery.

Mr. Charles Parrish also of the village was brought by ambulance to the hospital on Thursday.

By strange coincidence two half brothers of the same name, Robert

Leslie Leighton, aged 75 of Lot 9,

Con. 10, Brock and Andrew Leighton

aged 84 years of Lot 10, Con. 10,

Brock passed away on the same day,

August 28th, at their respective homes, each death occurring a short time from the other. The son of the former, upon arriving at the home of the latter, to inform his uncle of the passing of the father, found him in bed and saw half-gone away, apparently in his sleep.

Heavy Traffic

The Labor Day weekend travel through the village was astounding.

Friday night long lines of cars both northward and southward, many with bright lights facing the oncoming traffic. Many cars, (one within three minutes), of dandelion drives weaving out of, and then back again with bareheaded men, in front of oncoming traffic was hazardous and sure to cause accidents.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sanderson and

Miss Mary with Mr. Frank Fox, of Sunderland, spent Saturday at Orillia and vicinity.

Much interest was centred on two church weddings in the city on Saturday afternoon. September 6th. Many attended the marriage of Muriel Jean, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Brodson of Pinkville, to Ross Gordon of Pinkville. The marriage took place in Pinkville, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Brodson at 3:30 p.m. The W. A. ceremony to the wedding guests, some 60 in number, at a delightful supper and dance in the basement of the church.

Many also from Sunderland and vicinity motored to the Udon Valley church on Saturday afternoon.

Sept. 6th to view the wedding of Georgia Jo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKnight to Douglas

Gilbert Harder, son of Sunderland and formerly of Trenton. The marriage was solemnized in the Udon

Valley Church at 4 p.m.

Mr. Arnie Stanton and Miss

Catherine, of Blackwater, were

Thursday visitors in Sunderland with Mrs. T. Parry.

The W. I. held another bake sale at the Conkey's Service Station on Highway 7, just south of the village on Saturday morning recently and at night a second bazaar in the heart of the village on J. D. Anderson's lawn. The proceeds of both ventures were gratifying.

Friends of Hon. G. Arthur Webb of Sunderland are pleased to see that he is recovering nicely from his recent indisposition under the care of his daughter, Miss Constance

Webb R.N.

Dr. W. T. Taylor, Ottawa, was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs.

John Brabant, Blackwater, Mrs.

Thelma and daughter, Cynthia, returned home with him after an extended vacation here.

Shower Held

On Monday evening, August 25th

a large number of friends and neighbours gathered at the Pinkville home of Mr. and Mrs. Maxford Lott and invited Miss Jean Leighton with a shower of many useful and beautiful gifts. Miss Brodson is one of the early September brides and during the evening received many compliments and well-wishes for her future happiness.

Many attended the funeral on Friday September 6th of Mrs. John

Thayer, respected resident of the village, who passed away in the

Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay,

Wednesday, September 3rd. Service was held at the Pinkville Funeral

Chapel, Sunderland and interment was at Oakdale Cemetery. The body of the community is expected to be bereaved.

Don-Marcus (TNS) Friends and neighbours recently met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tremer and honored their daughter Marie a miscellaneous group.

Miss Doris Leighton was chair-lady for the programme which included an accordion selection by Mrs. Gordon Gillson, a reading by Mrs. Norman Jackson, an vocal duet

by Mrs. Gordon Gillson and Mrs.

Gordon Maxwell, an instrumental by Mrs. Jean Brabant and Mrs.

Mrs. Stewart Hall, a contest by Mrs. Jean Brabant, in which

Marie was awarded first prize.

The dining room. The wedding marriage was officiated by Mr. Howard

Plaster, Rev. Goodrich and Rev.

Goodrich drawing a little general laden with gifts for the bride.

Marie was married in the lobby

by Reagaine and Mrs. Gordon Gillson placed the bride and groom in the bride thanked her friends for the lovely gifts and everyone joined in singing "For She's a Truly Good Police".

A lovely lunch was served next presentation.

Upon the return from their homi-gion, recently Mr. and Mrs.

George Bagshaw were welcomed chariters. This coincided with the 10th and excitement at about 11.30 a.m. and brought much of the village to the scene as someone sent a letter from a there, used to visit the newlaid, called the Brigade.

Mr. Ed. Dolman, Mrs. Joe Stone,

Mrs. Stanley Miller, Mrs. Louis Jewell and Mrs. T. R. Parry all of the village, motored to the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Brown on the 10th of Booth, where the Advertiser

Ladies served, afternoon tea, and where the late Mr. B. Brown and Gladiol garden in full bloom made a picturesque scene for the occasion.

Mrs. G. W. Johnson of Blackwater, was visited by Dr. and Mrs. J.

Johnson of Chicago 20 some times recently.

Mr. Bill McDougal of Victoria,

Ontario, visited at the Alfred Brown on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allen and Mrs.

Johnson, were Friday visitors in Lindsay.

Harold Jewell and Ross Brown are two of the junior farmers who have left for the Canadian West.

Mr. Cliff Debeaux of Shill, was

Thursday visitor in Sunderland

Dr. John Munn and son of Millerville, Penn. returned acquaintance, around the lake and the village recently, visiting with his son, Alvin, Millard.

Sympathy is extended to the replacement of the village on the passing of the father, William

Mrs. George Shier was a business visit to Lindsay on Friday.

Miss Eva and Elaine Wright of Sunderland, spent the weekend at their home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kreier of the village have returned home and report a splendid holiday of some two weeks, spent in Northern Ontario. While there they were with friends at New Lismore and York Bay and many other places.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jewell of Sunderland and Mr. and Mrs. Edna of Toronto on Friday, September

10th.

EXHIBITION TIME...

...is here again!

Another year has rolled around and we have the privilege again of welcoming the citizens of Ontario who annually visit our fair of which we are justly proud.

Our fair has undoubtedly developed into an outstanding success but this just didn't happen. It required planning and a lot of diligent work on the part of the directors and Manager over the years. To them we offer our congratulations.

Visitors to the fair are cordially invited to make our office their meeting place while in Lindsay.

Belief in Rest Area Stealing Broken

Preyed on Kawartha
Tourists

Tenets of three men, Wednesday night in Kawartha, Ontario, are expected to bring an end to the epidemic of outboard motor thefts in the Kawartha district. Motors and fishing tackle to the value of more than $10,000 have been taken from the motor vehicles of the district. These have taken place in the last few years, according to Herbert Klabanski and Joseph Laproque—have been arrested and charged with the thefts.

After a number of charges of theft, an arrest was made of the motor thefts this summer started from the northern part of the country to the Lake Huron and Georgian Bay.

The men, it is understood, have made statements to police, and will face a number of charges of theft. An arrest was made of the motor thefts this summer started from the northern part of the country to the Lake Huron and Georgian Bay.

Not good. The provincial police have issued a notice, partly owned by one of the three men, that has been used as a hideout this summer. Police here say there was obvious evidence that the truck, as they described it, was used for a hideout.

Largest single theft in the district was on July 28, when three state motor boats, worth more than $10,000, were taken from the shore of Lake Huron.

Two U.S. citizens, E. T. Fowling, of West Virginia, and W. S. Garfield, of New York, were the main victims. There was no fishing tackle taken, says Joe Klabanski, but an outboard motor was stolen from his trailer.

The tourists offered rewards of $50 for return of the tackle and $100 for the return and conviction of the thief.

BENT BOATS
Technique used in many cases was that they would rent a boat and outboard motor, drive it out of state, and then return it to the area near where an accomplice would park a car. Then they would set the boat adrift in outboard motor.

To other cases the thief would be committed at night. Using a boat, the thieves would go to the dock of a tourist resort and remove any motors left on boats overnight.

The boat, they say, for transporting themselves and the motors would invariably be a stolen one.

Using these and other methods not cited by police, thieves stole more than 100 outboard motors and an unlimited amount of fishing tackle in the Kawartha this summer.

Four of the motors were recovered in Trenton this week by the Ontario police, according to Constable and Rekin.

Grand Old Lady of Sunderland, 99, Says Contentment Wealth of World

Thirty members of her immediate family and their families enjoyed the recent celebration of the 99th birthday of Mrs. James Glendinning of Sunderland. This was held at the spacious home of her daughter, Mrs. Colin McMillan, Cunningham. Her actual birthday was on August 20th, which was spent quietly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Don Ray, Sunderland. Mrs. Glendinning makes her mark as her permanent abode.

Mrs. Glendinning takes a keen interest in everyday affairs of household and garden, and prides herself on taking a special interest in her personal appearance. On Sunday mornings she prepares for the Sabbath by following the ritual of putting her hair in curlers and each night creases her well-pressed skirts. Throughout the year this past, friendly lady kindly and with sincere interest greets friends of former years and their families who visit the home of their childhood and renew her acquaintances.

For 18 years Mrs. James Glendinning, Sunderland's grand old lady, has trod the bypaths of a very happy and interesting life centered around the village of Sunderland.

"It is what I called Sunderland 99 years ago," this interesting lady remembered. "It was Josselyn's Corner. I was born just outside of the village, between the 4th and 5th concessions, on the corner of the old Robert Doble who was the son of the original pioneer Doble family, who all settled in the village, and in fact, owned practically all land there, some 125 years ago. If one will go west of Highway 7 on the 8th Concession of Brook," she says, "you can see the place of my birth, and the buildings are still standing. When I was at pre-school age we moved to the farm on the corner of the Town Line at the First Concession, which in later years was the property of Arthur Doble, now residence of Sunderland and which is now occupied by Mr. Gordon Miller."

"It was from here that I walked some 4 miles or better to Roddy's

George W. Tamblin

On Friday, August 22, 1903, death came to one of Little Britain's most highly respected citizens, George W. Tamblin, who was born in Sunderland, New Brunswick, Canada, without a trace of suffering at the family residence, Lot 11, Con. 8, Mariposa, in the 8th year, Mr. Tamblin was born to John, Mariposa, the first youngest son of the late Mary Ann Strait and Wm. H. Tamblin of York, Ontario, and on January 17, 1884, he married dear Thelma of Preston Mills, eldest daughter of the late Sarah MacLellan, and Charles H. H. Tamblin of Toronto, Ontario. They took up farming in Eldon Township, Lake of the Huron, moved to Alden, from there to Zeno Mariposa and finally in 1920 to the present home at Little Britain.

The deceased suffered from asthma from boyhood and since 1939 had a heart condition. He possessed a naturally friendly and jovial disposition, was fond of music and singing. His grand and great-grandchildren brought him many happy hours. He was a kind and loving father, a good neighbour, always willing to help when needed and took a great interest in the community at large. This characteristic of his whole life and endeared him to all who knew him.

Left to cherish his memory are his daughter, Olive, of Chelmsford, and his sons, Charles, Fred, of Chelmsford, and Lawrence, of Weymouth, all of whom, great-grandchildren, and great-grandchildren, also one brother, John, Walter, of Montreal.

On Monday, August 26, the funeral proceeded from the James Tamblin Funeral Home, 1000-1001, British United Church for service, Rev. Walter, Chelmsford, of Manitoba United Church, conducted the services. In his very kindly and unassuming manner, he put to rest the feeling of the deceased and his final resignation to the Masters call. In conclusion, the minister left a message of comfort for the bereaved families.

"We will not say that a God—He is just away. Think of him as he lives on as dear in the life of there, as the love of life. Two favourite hymns, chosen and marked during the previous years by the deceased were used. By request Mrs. A. G. Atkinson, Chelmsford, of Manitoba, Mrs. Marie, rendered beautifully as a solo, one of the chosen hymns.

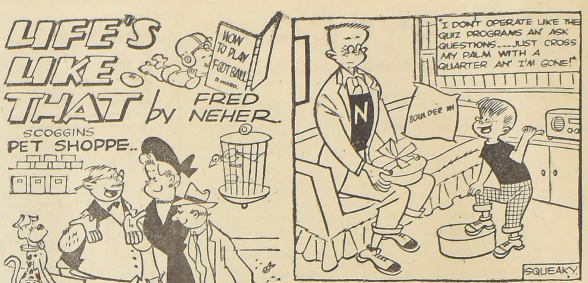

The pallbearers were grand nephews and the flower bearers were nephews, nieces and great nieces. The numerous and magnificent floral tributes beamed a sincere message of esteem and condolence.

Interment was made in the family plot at Little Britain United cemetery.

back of the old Evans place. A forest of mighty pines, supplied lumber for building. I remember the majestic pine logs of great length, taken from that pine forest by oxen, were used for ship masts, taken from that pine forest on that farm, where Rudby's creek, now trickles among the alders and cedars was once a mighty wide stream, dammed at the Brook Road where Rudby's sawmill did its cunning work. The width of the resulting stream can still be defined where it crosses the 7th concession and the remnants of the damm quite noticeably. Many fine logs were floated down the stream to the mill some mile to the west."

"We had a beautiful, comfortable life in the olden days. The summerfolk along as they polished and trimmed the yard-side road of logs of later years or moulders the hand-made cordons from fallow—like bread. Well I guess so, and such bread turned out of wood burning stove— bread which was a real treat to hungry children, the first children, Mr. Robert Glendinning, now residing in Nepean, Mrs. Mary Miller, of Vancouver, Mrs. Sam Ray, of Orlia, Mrs. Colin McMillan, Cunningham, Mr. John A. Glendinning, Winnipeg, Mr. Roy Glendinning, Kelowna, Manitoba; Mrs. William Dyer, now deceased, made up the family of four sons and four daughters.

Today Mrs. Glendinning is still filled with pleasurable excitement as she looks over the memories of gifts and the expressions of condolence which marked her 99th birthday.

Oxen Yoke Prized Possession Sunderland Relics Collector

Sunderland (PNS) William Bagshaw, owner of Sunderland, has in his possession many relics of pioneer days and among these and mounted in prominent place between two posts on the lawn of his residence is a yoke yoke for a team of oxen.

This yoke yoke recalls many incidents of the long ago and Mr. Bagshaw, now one of Sunderland's oldest gentlemen, can remember clearly when his grandfather drove a team of oxen in this same yoke.

Mr. Bagshaw states that in those days a good team of oxen were trained from steers at about six months of age and it was not until the first of doing this. The steers were first of all given a name, which they learned the name of a horse, dog or cat.

"First of all my grandfather always said these steers must be taught to lead well with a rope on. Then the two must be tied together and taught to follow their trainer. They should be driven always from left to right and not allowed to pull the trailer with their heads. Steer oxen can be broken to a yoke yoke at any age as long as the yoke is made to fit them. But to train them to a head yoke, they must have horns and be two years old. A well broken team was in those days years old. My grandfather advocated patience and kindness in breaking and handling oxen. If you are kind to them they will have confidence in you and always maintain, and if you are impatient - don't drive oxen."

"My grandfather had good heavy steers, well matched. He preferred short horns. The first team of oxen which I recollect in my grandfather's farm on the 18th concession of Brock was of short horn. Most oxen then preferred head yokes. "If a head yoke was used the oxen had to have horns but our family found it much safer to harness the cattle and use the yoke yoke."

My grandfather died to have several sets of ox yokes. The small ones were made of strong, light wood just long enough so that when the calves were yoked up they could walk easily side by side."

The large team yoke which Mr. Bagshaw wears is made of oak beautifully finished and is complete with two large rings for the neck and a central ring by which the load is attached.

"My grandfather used oxen for plowing, harrowing, moving hay or logs," he continued. "They were given in the sugar bush, good yielding logs in the bush, hauling oxen or breaking hard and land. They did any kind of work which had to be done on the farm. Of course, my grandfather kept horses but always kept one yoke of oxen. The oxen were never shorn but the horns but a pair of two year old steers he reckoned were a pull as much as a 15 cwt. horse."

Grandfather did all the plowing and sowing and heavy farm work with one team of oxen on his 300 acre farm.

The first ox team was used for striking out lands and they did a grand job obeying the command: "How a little" and "Gee a little" explicitly. They could work on any slope but grandfather gave them out crop which kept them in better shape and able to do more work."

In this mechanical age it is interesting to note that the vast surrounding farmland was cleared by pioneer forefathers who hauled the logs down the steeply graded miles of stony made fence, ploughed, sowed, reaped and mowed and in all heavy work the ox team proved cheap and adequate power as the farm stores were limited to be powerful helpers - intelligent for a good reason.

Mr. Bagshaw's grandfather was the second generation of William Bagshaw and death Butler, who settled on the 18th concession of Brock in 1811 coming from the old country.

Mr. Bagshaw continued "It is a mighty proud of that ox yoke as it reminds me constantly of the great heritage which my pioneer forefathers have handed down to me. It symbolizes the hard courageous work which they accomplished in clearing the land, with cheerful trusting fortitude. It stands there

Account Of Trip Is Given By Mr. Harold Beatty

Harold Beatty (PNS) "The regular meeting of the W. I. was held in the Institute Room with an attendance of 11 members and 13 visitors.

The meeting opened with the recitation of the Lord's Prayer, followed by the Mary Stewart - Collier and the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. The minutes of the last meeting were read and there was no business. Mr. H. H. Marks, seconded by Miss White. The roll was called and responded to with the name of a leader in public affairs. Miss Beatty White, treasurer, gave her report showing a balance of $143.24. The meeting was turned over to Mr. Turner, convenor of Historical Research and Current Events. She gave an interesting Current Events, and then called on Mr. Harold Beatty, who presented an interesting slide taken on his trip to Scotland and England as a representative of Victoria Co. Harold told the story of his trip, along with the slides, which were very interesting. Mrs. H. H. Marks moved a vote of thanks to Harold on behalf of the ladies.

Miss Flora Athill explained about the travelling for the Blind that is to be held this fall. It was moved by Miss Athill and seconded by Mrs. Powell that the canvas for the Blind be held in September.

Mr. Claude Bottom asked that the articles for the exhibit be sent in as soon as possible so that the exhibit could be taken. Collection was taken, and the meeting closed with "God Save the Queen" followed by a hearty lunch.

As a proof of how the line, laborious toll of long ago was accomplished without the help of machinery. It speaks of the untold resources of pioneer times such as my great grandfather, Sam Butler, a Glasgow, who brought eight children with him to Canada, after great grandfather had acquired a tract of some 20 acres in Great Township. This day marked the transfer of Quaker Hill with her eight children upon landing in this country a distance of some 50 miles. In their first homestead of logs they reared all 14 children in the most primitive manner. Their cabin boasted one glass window the glass being carried from Toronto through a blizzard frost trail by William Bagshaw, as he made the journey of over a journey of some 60 miles.

We Bagshaw today are reminded of the spirit and sterling character of our great grandmothers when we see her red hair still reproduced in that of her own living 8th and 9th generation of descendants as they also at the ox yoke and little two-eyed woman to tales of the long ago of brave people and their faithful breeds."

Speculate On Earlier Than Expected Exit

Ottawa political circles are speculating on an earlier-than-expected exit from the Prime Minister's office.

The "action" has been started off because of the success of the Progressive Conservative Party in the New Brunswick election. Some reason that political circles are speculating that the political situation is changing.

Some sources think an election could take place this year or sometime next spring before the current session of the House of Commons.

Mr. St. Laurent, during his recent tour of the provinces, has been heard to say that citizens would be called to the polls until autumn of next year.

Daylight Time Ends Sunday

Lindsay and district residents will forget the whole thing and turn their clocks back to standard time for the winter.

At two o'clock on Sunday morning, Lindsay and district residents will be able to climb out of the sack and turn their clocks back one hour. It is entirely correct if many will do it exactly according to that schedule so many will go to bed by standard time and others will arise and set their clock back one hour.

EVERY VILLAGE OUGHT TO HAVE ONE

The other day while approaching the entrance to a village in the Lindsay district a sign loomed up at the side of the road which was worded something like this: "Drive Slowly, Speed Trap Ahead." We never did learn whether or not there really was a speed trap in the village but we can honestly say that the sign produced the desired effect in this instance. We were cautioned to check the speedometer while going through the village and in case of any further speeder.

Thinking about this afterwards, it occurred to us that this type of sign might have beneficial effects if placed at the entrance to every settlement. It would have the effect of a sign for speeders through a village or board of anyone who has, they are not to expect such a warning. It is alarming to the note with speeders that many more have been killed in the smaller settlements and anything which might prove a deterrent is certainly worthwhile trying. Just to make the effect of the signs enduring genuine speed traps could be maintained at intervals at the different villages.

GREATNESS DOWN THE STREET

The growing months of summer produce their bewildering variety of spectacular crops. But none so thrilling as the variety of the human element in the annual crop of rescue. From the beginning to the end of this resourceful season hardly an issue of a newspaper but reports one or more chapters of heroism were for their mere, ingenuity, perseverance and other virtues rural villages in fiction.

People clamber down cliffs for collapsing walls, headlong through flames, wade fabulous distances under unrelenting heat, and in the most desperate risk their own lives in a thousand ways to bring rescue or help to others in need. These are not professional heroes, not trained stunt men, not organized search workers in most cases; some are not at all accomplished in what they set out to do. They are just people who live down the streets from us everywhere who are never satisfied with the ordinary, who are not weak-womans, somewhat completely services when life is at stake.

For this peculiar, inherent, amateur quality of all walks of life have put into their records incredible feats of daring and enduring to relieve a dog, a cat, a wild animal in trouble. It is all very well to say perhaps the animals don't know any better, but by chance ought to realize what they are doing so they won't get into trouble. And doubtless if 99 per cent of the victims involved had been a fraction of the foresight, planning and precautions that were to go into the subsequent hunt or rescue operations for them, these wouldn't have got into the fix that required all this.

But human frailty or even folly is not an argument, since it came to the set when man was fashioned in the first place. The thing that matters is the shining virtue in people's hearts that bids them to the rescue, whatever the risk and whatever the price. It is nice to say that this heroic lust was not lost but even gained in lustre in our pumped age.

Laugh It Off...

It was their 25th wedding anniversary and the "man" of the house started out to his office as usual. "John," his wife called. "Don't you know what day this is?"

"Well, how did you say to celebrate it?" persisted his wife.

"Sure and I don't know, Maggie," said John, scratching his head in puzzlement. "How about two minutes of silence?"—Labour Leader

Comic Strip Creator Dies

Stanford, Connecticut, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Harold T. Webster, creator of the two-reel cartoon strip "The Three Stooges" and other cartoons, died about a train late yesterday while traveling in his home from Bridgeport, Connecticut.

Webster, who observed his 67th birthday last Sunday, made the character "Casper Milquetoast" a symbol of meekness to thousands of readers.

Death was attributed to a heart attack.

He leaves his wife, Ethel Wilson. Her services will be held Wednesday.

One of Canada's oldest newspaper Publishers died at his home in Lindsay Tuesday a.m. George H. Wilson, founder, president and member for 60 years of the Lindsay Post, passed away in his 95th year.

Born in Port Dover, Ontario, Mr. Wilson was the son of the late George and Sarah Wilson. His father, a native of England, was initially identified with the newspaper business, having founded the Port Dover paper which he published throughout his lifetime.

While in coming to Lindsay the late Mr. Wilson was connected with the printing and publishing field at Windsor and Toronto. At Lindsay he purchased the "Canadian Post" from the late C. D. Barr. After taking over the paper which was then published weekly, he published the Lindsay Daily Post which was in turn succeeded by the "Thursday Post." A weekly publication serving the rural districts of surrounding counties, it was published as a local newspaper.

It was only within recent months that Mr. Wilson was no longer able to work. He was confined to his office by a periodic visit to his office, and his health was in poor condition. He was in his 95th year when he died.

He was a member of the Lindsay Rotary Club and the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce. He was also a member of the Lindsay Post's board of directors.
